

Take Off. Next Level.

(Senior) Project Manager (m/f/d)

Phoenix-Wings is hiring! We are looking for people with a passion for technology and exceptional problem-solving skills to expand the capabilities of our team. We believe that direct communication, fast processes and creativity along with broad technical skills are the tools required to solve today's engineering challenges. Join the team and take off with us.

Your Mission

- You lead complex international projects with external customers and partners (universities and drone operators)
- You develop a deep understanding of our products to market them effectively
- You explore new business opportunities together with partners, customers and our management team
- You track customer and partner requirements and coordinate these with the development team
- You document project progress and regularly report on project status
- You evaluate project profitability and decide on project roadmaps together with the management team

Your Qualification

You hold a degree in a technical or business-related field.

Experience

- At least 3 years of experience as a project manager or customer facing role
- Excellent people and communication skills
- Experience with drones or UAS is a huge plus
- Ability to travel internationally

Team skills

- Proficient in English
- Positive and straight communication
- Highly motivated and autonomous working style

Your Opportunity

We provide an attractive compensation package in combination with flexible working hours. You know best how to produce the best possible output, whether it is from our spacious office in Ismaning or from home. Our flat hierarchy will give you the opportunity to take over responsibilities soon after you start.
